Why mentors show up.

Mentoring through Uplift is a volunteer role, done to give back to the community and strengthen the ecosystem. But it goes both ways; your mentor gets something real out of it too.

"I want to bring practical, in-the-trenches marketing and brand-building guidance, and the candid feedback founders say is hardest to find elsewhere."

On what she hopes to get: "Staying close to the real, current challenges founders face, and connecting with other operators and investors in the Uplift network."

• Jeanne McPhillips, Founder, SuperGirls LLC

"Guide entrepreneurs in their journey to a successful business."

On what he hopes to get: "The satisfaction of giving back, and networking."

• Jay Dave, Founder & COO, Vortalsoft

"I believe I will be able to get much more from the outstanding founders here than I would be able to give."

• Jessie Lee, GTM, SmartTravel.com

How your mentor is meant to support you.

There are a million ways a stranger with more experience can help you. That's the whole point.

What they might do

- Open up their network
- Share advice, and the anecdotes behind it
- Tell you what worked, and what didn't, for them
- Nudge you toward a resource or direction worth trying, and just as often, one that isn't
- Just listen, as a sounding board

What mentorship isn't

- Building your product, or doing the work for you
- A consultant, or a coach paid to always cheer you on
- Someone who's lived your exact scenario in your exact industry, their edge is usually adjacent, and that still counts
- Guaranteed answers on demand
- A job. Mentors volunteer their time, same as you'd hope someone would for you

What your mentor will know about you.

Your mentor gets your company at a glance before your first meeting, pulled straight from your application. Your cohort-mates can see it too, in the Cohort Directory. One exception: your revenue dollar range stays between you and your mentor.

 The Company at a Glance card: stage, industry, what you're hoping to accomplish, and what you want from mentorship

How your match is actually made

A matching tool built for this program scores every founder-mentor pair on five factors, then a person on our team confirms every match. Nothing is auto-assigned.

- Time-commitment fit: your cadence vs what they signed up to give
- Focus-area alignment: what you need vs what they know best
- Your own words: what you asked for vs what they offer
- Stage fit
- Schedule overlap

Full write-up lives in your Resources tab: How We Match Founders & Mentors. So the answer to “why this mentor?” is never a shrug.

Program expectations over the next eight weeks.

How to structure your one-on-one meetings: Discover, Act, Roadmap.

MEETING 1 · WITHIN 7 DAYS OF MATCH

Discover

THE JOB: Context and trust. Pick the problem worth your hours together.

BRING

- Your goals reflection from the portal
- Where the company actually is: traction, runway, blockers
- The one decision you keep circling

LEAVE WITH

- One focus area you both agree matters most
- What winning looks like by November
- Your next meeting on the calendar

MEETING 2 · WITHIN 10 DAYS OF MEETING 1

Act

THE JOB: Turn Discover into a move. Advice becomes action here.

BRING

- What you tried since your previous meeting, including what flopped
- Real numbers, real customer conversations
- The obstacle that surprised you

LEAVE WITH

- One concrete commitment with a date on it
- An experiment, a decision, or an intro your mentor can make
- What to measure before your next meeting

MEETING 3 · SUGGESTED BY OCT 23

Roadmap

THE JOB: Zoom out. Agree on the long-term plan and how you'll keep meeting.

BRING

- Results from your Act commitment
- An honest read on what's changed since your Discover meeting
- Your biggest open question for the next quarter

LEAVE WITH

- Your next three moves, in order
- The signals that tell you it's working
- Whether you're meeting again, and how often

These three meetings should launch you into Overdrive. (Get it. We love dad jokes here.)

Uplift at OverdriveAI.

TechUnited's marquee event. This is why Discover, Act, and Roadmap come first.

A GOOD KIND OF UNCOMFORTABLE

Growth is a pressure test. OverdriveAI is your chance to show up a little uncomfortable, on purpose, and put your work in front of people before it feels ready. Share the ugly baby. That's how it grows up.

This sets you up for success in the second half of your program, as you dive deeper with your educational sessions and your mentorship.

OCTOBER 27, 2026 • REQUIRED

By Oct 27 you'll walk in with a mission from your Roadmap. Use OverdriveAI as rocket fuel for it:

Meet more people

Sell more things

Practice your CTA

Practice your pitch

All things future of AI, future of tech, future of New Jersey, and a room full of the exact people who can move your mission forward.

Log your mentorship meetings as you go.

We verify mentor hours at the end of the program, so an easy log keeps things smooth.

Why we ask

- Helps confirm your 3 hours of 1:1 mentor time
- Gives your mentor what they need to sign off at program end
- Captures takeaways so progress is easy to see
- Submit with your Uplift ID, it's how your meetings map to you

REQUIRED: AI NOTE-TAKER

- ☒ Granola (preferred)
- ☒ Fathom
- ☒ Otter

An AI notetaker that runs alongside your calls so you don't have to take notes manually, and gives us a clean record to verify your sessions. Be explicit with your mentor about which tool you're using. If you opt out, you're responsible for your own written notes.

Have yours set up before your first mentor meeting.

How you'll hear from us.

EDUCATIONAL SESSIONS: LUMA + PORTAL

All dates, RSVPs, and speakers live in Luma and stay updated there. Your portal points you to it. Luma and your portal together are your source of truth.

A WEEKLY EMAIL, TUESDAY MORNINGS

A quick recap: what happened last week, what's happening this week, which sessions are available, and a reminder of where you should be. That's it.

IF YOU MISS A PULSE CHECK

You'll hear from your PM directly if you skip one, just a quick check-in. Complete it and we assume you're good; no news is good news.

📧 AUTOMATED PORTAL MESSAGES

Some emails come straight from your portal, marked 📧 and clearly automated. They fire on logic alone: something you did in the portal, or our review of your materials clearing. They are receipts, not personal outreach, and a human reads every reply.

One thing that's on you: staying connected to your mentor is your responsibility. We'll support you, but Discover, Act, and Roadmap only work if you drive them.

Portal demo.

Everything you can do inside the portal. Let's do a live walkthrough.

Get oriented

- How to log in
- Find your cohort
- See your cohort-mates
- Program resources →
- How we match founders & mentors →

Stay engaged

- Make sure TechUnited's Luma page is saved
- Register in advance for the sessions you're attending

 The Uplift portal: your journey, milestones, and logged sessions in one place

Say hi to Ulrike.

"I know this program inside and out, and impressively little else." That's Ulrike's own introduction, and it's the whole idea.

Ask her about

- Program requirements and deadlines
- How to structure your mentor meetings
- Where to find a resource or document
- How to sign out: exit survey, signature, certificate

Why use her

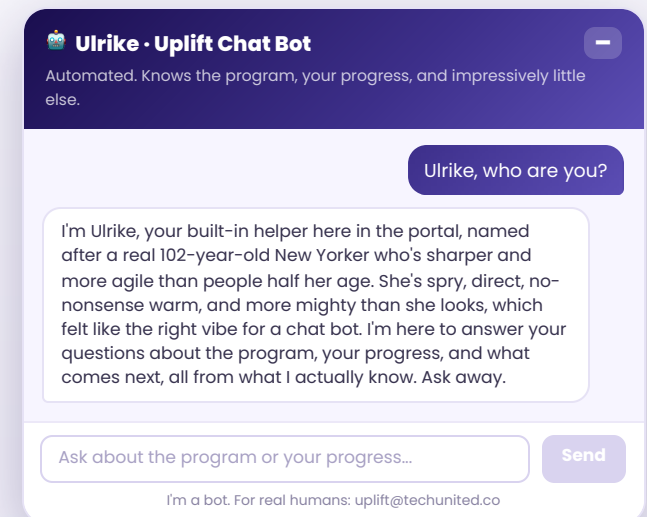

- Faster than digging through Resources or emailing us
- Available right in your portal, anytime
- Doesn't know anything outside the program, on purpose

The real Ulrike · 102 · NYC

Why "Ulrike"? Ask her yourself; she tells the story better than a slide could. →

Anything she can't answer routes straight to uplift@techunited.co.

Give before you get.

Mentors who show up. Founders who share what's working, and what isn't. Peers who answer each other's questions before staff even sees them. None of that happens by accident. It happens because everyone in the room decided to give first.

Show up for each other the way you want people to show up for you.

"This is exactly what we needed. I'm a geneticist by training building a software company, with no business experience!"

• Rachel Hayes, Founder, Ravel Genetics (Morrison cohort)

Every founder leaves with these five things.

It's up to you to define what each of these means for you. In your portal, that's called Deep Work, a sentence or less per category. Not the answers below, just examples to get you thinking:

A stronger relationship

"A mentor I could actually text."

Greater clarity

"Should I go full-time on this?"

New resources

"Where do I find the right AI tools?"

A trusted mentor

"Someone with the scars to know what not to do."

A community

"Someone to tell when I'm having a bad day."

HOW TO SET YOURSELF UP FOR SUCCESS

WEEK 1 DEEP WORK • REQUIRED

To unlock your mentor, your Week 1 Deep Work asks you to define each of these five pillars and what they mean to you, beforehand, in a sentence or less. Take a moment in your portal to do so.

WEEK 2 ON • OPTIONAL

Short Deep Work prompts continue in your portal. Not required, but the more you put in, the more we can actually help.

Questions?

No question is too obvious. Chances are someone else has the same one.

QUESTIONS LATER IN THE PROGRAM

Reach us anytime at uplift@techunited.co

This contact is also available in your portal under the Support tab.

WHILE YOU'RE HERE, TWO MORE OPTIONAL THINGS

JOIN THE WHATSAPP

A peer group to ask each other questions.
Optional, not TechUnited-led.

AI DEMO NIGHT, SEPT 10

A bonus TechUnited event, not part of the program. Free ticket: use code UPLIFT.

Your first action item: get oriented.

Attending onboarding is step one. Here's what to do next.

- Get familiar with your portal. Poke around. Find your cohort, find the resources.
- Pass your onboarding quiz. 10 questions, 10 out of 10, unlimited retakes. Every answer is in the onboarding deck in Resources.
- Answer your Week 1 Deep Work questions. Required, this is how we validate your mentor match. Deep Work becomes optional after Week 1.
- Browse the educational sessions and register for the ones you already know you can make. Lock those into your calendar now.
- Download your AI note-taker. Granola (preferred), Fathom, or Otter. Have it ready before your first mentor meeting.

Let's build a better future, together.

We're rooting for you.
